

THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

STATEMENT OF THE

REVENUE ACCOUNTS

T H E

INTRODUCTORY PREFACE.

I Flatter myself a collection of the annual accounts of Services and Grants will be satisfactory, not only to members of parliament, but to all readers of English history; who will find the articles arranged under the particular heads of Navy, Ordnance, Forces, Sundry Services and Deficiencies; specifying the Totals voted, the Sums paid, and what remains each Year unpaid; as likewise the Grants for satisfying the said services, and the ballance of Overplus or Deficiency—And as I have extracted them from the Journals, I find them not regularly entered before the year 1722, which is the reason of this work commencing at that period.

In order to render the same more useful, I have inserted the volume and page where referred to, and the date and name when and by whom the account was presented—I have likewise added a table of the total services and grants, the respective supply-acts of each year, and an index to the fundry services. But, as it may be necessary to explain some articles which would take up too much room to be inserted in each annual account, I submit the following illustration of them, viz.

The number of seamen are always voted without any estimate, and the sum for defraying the same is calculated at 4*l.* per man per month, for thirteen months, according to the following allowances: for wear and tear, 1*l.* 10*s.*—wages, 1*l.* 10*s.*—victualling, 1*l.*

The ordinary estimate of the navy includes the expences of the board of admiralty, the dock yards, and other articles.

The number of land forces are voted upon estimate for guards, garrisons, and other land forces in Great Britain, Guernsey and Jersey.

The Plantation service is likewise upon estimate, and comprehends the forces and garrisons in the Plantations and Africa, including those in garrison at Minorca and Gibraltar, and for provisions for forces in North America, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Gibraltar, the ceded Islands, and Africa.

The article of widows pensions, which first appears in 1730, has reference to those of such half-pay officers, who served and were married before Christmas 1716—according to their petition, presented February 28, 1729, setting forth, “That his late majesty (King George I.) did allow the pay of 2d. per day, out of every troop and company, as a fund upon which pensions should be paid to the widows of those officers, who died in whole pay, to which the widows of officers in half pay were not entitled;” which being admitted, occasions that article every year since, to the widows of such reduced officers of land forces and marines, as died upon the establishment of half pay in Great Britain, and who were married to them before the 25th of December 1716.

January 28, 1731. The petition of Sir Thomas Lombe, Knt. was presented to the house: “That he had at a great hazard and expence, discovered and introduced the art of making fine Italian Organzine, or thrown silk out of fine raw silk, by engines, and had a patent for the same for fourteen years, dated September 8, 1718; by virtue whereof he had erected an engine in the town of Derby, and as the term of his patent was almost expired, prayed the house to grant him a further term,” which being referred to a committee, the house agreed to the report nemine contradicente, and a bill ordered in, which passed into a law. Chap. viii.

March 5, 1738-9. The petition of Thomas Claphamson, and Solomon Merrett, was presented, relative to their concern in the ship St. Isabella; a Spanish man of war, taken by the English fleet near Scilly, in 1718, and sold to the petitioners, which ship was delivered up to the Spaniards, pursuant to treaty. The above being referred to the committee of the whole house, on the convention between Great Britain and Spain, satisfaction of 5000l. was given thereupon, out of the supplies of the year.

In 1751, the act (Chap. xxiii.) was made for regulating the commencement of the year, and correcting the Calendar, which occasioned the alteration of the eleven days in the services of the ensuing year, being only for twelve months and nineteen days.

N. B. It is to be observed, that every article of service is for the whole year, unless particularly specified to the contrary.

In the same year an act passed (Chap. xlviii.) for applying 112,142l. 3s. 3d. as a satisfaction to the Royal African Company of England for their charter, lands, &c. vesting the same in the company of merchants trading to Africa—At the end of the act is set forth an account of their slaves, &c. in 1749.

In 1754, the article relative to fundry chaplains of the navy, took rise from their petition, presented December 6, 1753. upon which an estimate was ordered in and delivered February 22, 1754, allowing a bounty to forty chaplains who had served on board the fleet for five years during the late war.

February 24, 1764. A petition of John Blake, Esq; was presented, expressing, that he had drawn up a plan for supplying the metropolis with fish by land carriage, and that the society for the encouragement of arts, manufactures, and commerce, had given 2000*l.* and advanced 1500*l.* to him at his own risque, to put the same into practice, whereby he had brought upwards of eighty-nine tun of fresh fish to market, between May 16, and December 31, 1762. This petition was referred to the committee of supply, where 2000*l.* was voted for the above purpose.

March 16, in the same year, A petition of Samuel Touchet, merchant, was presented, alledging, That he had, with vessels of a particular construction, been very instrumental in the reduction of Senegal, and had suffered great loss thereby, which he referred to a committee of the whole house, and a very full report was made thereof, April 2, and the several allegations proved by witnesses; and the same being referred to the committee, the sum of 7000*l.* was voted to him.

January 28, 1769. The petition of Charles Dingley, merchant, was presented, setting forth, "That in 1766 and 1767, he had erected a wind saw-mill, at a very considerable expence, on his estate at Limehouse, which had been of great public utility. That on 10th May last, several malicious persons, riotously and tumultuously assembled and destroyed the same, which he afterwards repaired at a very great expence." This being corroborated by evidence at a committee, the report was referred to the committee of supply, where 2000*l.* was voted to him as a reward for his having erected the said mill, and a recompence for the damage he had sustained by the rioters.

The above particulars of the fundry services appearing the only ones that stand in need of explanation, it remains to be observed, that the following accounts contain the expenture of the preceding years, which the several acts of parliament referred to in the table will sufficiently illustrate. It may be proper to take notice, that the appropriation acts are those where the services and grants of the years are particularly enacted.

Thus having gone through the introductory part, I thought it might not be improper to add the extracts of the several acts, relative to the three capital funds, the aggregate, general, and sinking funds. And those readers who wish to enter into a more minute enquiry upon that subject, will refer to the acts themselves, the clauses being intended only to give a general idea; and I chose to recite them in the very words, rather than give an account from myself, which might be liable to mistakes.

The AGGREGATE FUND. 1 George I. Cap. xii.

Sec. 22. AND to the end all the annual and other payments, which by the said first recited act, were charged upon the said duties, revenues and incomes, called the Aggregate Fund, (other than and except such payments, as from and after Lady-Day 1719, might incur for or upon the said allowance of 76,830l. 15s. per annum, hereby intended to be redeemed, and other than and except such other sums of money and payments, as are already satisfied and discharged, or are by this act intended to be reduced or saved to the public) may, together with the said yearly fund, not exceeding 20,000l. per annum, be well and sufficiently secured, and may respectively obtain their due course of payment, with such preferences as by the said former act, and this present act, are appointed in that behalf; it is hereby further enacted and declared, by the authority aforesaid, That all the said particular duties on houses, and all the said other rates, duties, revenues and incomes, which by the said first recited act of the third year of his majesty's reign, were settled for answering the respective payments therein mentioned (all which are by this act denominated to be the Aggregate Fund as aforesaid) and every of them, are and shall be continued and be paid and payable to his majesty, his heirs and successors for ever, and shall be raised, levied, collected, and brought into the exchequer of England, by and according to such rules, methods and directions, and with such drawbacks, repayments and allowances, and under such penalties, forfeitures, and disabilities, as are prescribed in and by the respective act and acts of parliament now in force, or any articles, clauses, matters or things therein contained, or thereby referred unto, for raising, levying, or bringing in the same, as fully and effectually as if the same acts, articles, clauses, matters and things, and every of them, were repeated and re-enacted in the body of this present act; nevertheless all the monies arising thereby into the said receipt of exchequer, from and after the feast of the Annunciation of the blessed Virgin Mary, 1719, and all the monies then remaining in the said receipt, of the same rates, duties, revenues, and incomes, shall be disposable to and for the several and respective uses and purposes by this or the said first recited act appointed or intended (other than and except, as aforesaid) and subject to the several provisos of redemption herein contained; any former law, statute, provision, restriction, clause or clauses, matters or things whatsoever to the contrary notwithstanding.

AGGREGATE FUND. 1 George III. Cap. 1.

Sec. 4. AND be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That for the support of his majesty's household, and of the honour and dignity of the crown, there shall be granted and continued, and issuing and payable, out of the said fund, called the Aggregate Fund, from and immediately after the demise of his said late majesty, king George the second, to his present majesty during his life (which God long preserve) the revenue or yearly rent or rents, or sum or sums of money herein after mentioned, that is to say, the clear yearly rent or sum of 723,000l. during the continuance of an annuity of 50,000l. payable by virtue of an act made in the tenth year of the reign of his said late majesty king George the second, to her royal highness the Princess Dowager of Wales, and of the annuities payable by virtue of an act made in the twelfth year of the reign of his said late majesty, of 15,000l. to his royal highness William duke of Cumberland, and

and the heirs male of his body; and 12,000l. to her royal highness the Princess Amelia; and in case of the determination of one or more of the said annuities, then, and immediately from thenceforth, such clear yearly rent, or sum over and above, and in addition to the said yearly rent, or sum of 723,000l. as the annuity or annuities, so determined, shall have amounted to; and in case of the determination of all the said annuities, then, and immediately from thenceforth, the clear yearly rent or sum of 800,000l. and the said yearly rents or sums for the support of his majesty's household, and of the honour and dignity of the crown, shall be, and are hereby charged upon, and shall be paid and payable from time to time, out of the duties and revenues which do or shall compose the said fund, commonly called the Aggregate Fund, or any of them (after paying or reserving sufficient to pay, all such sum and sums of money, as have been directed by any former act or acts of parliament to be paid out of the same, but with preference to all other payments, which shall or may hereafter be charged upon, or payable out of the said fund) and that the sum of 149,586l. 4s. 1½d. shall be issued and paid out of the said fund, for the support of his majesty's household, and of the honour and dignity of the crown, from the 25th October, 1760, to the 6th January, 1761, being the proportion of the said annual rent for the said term; and that from and after the 5th day of January 1761, the said yearly rents or sums of money shall grow due, and be payable to his majesty quarterly, at the four most usual days of payment in the year; that is to say, the 5th of April, the 5th of July, the 10th of October, and the 5th of January, by even and equal portions, out of the monies of the said Aggregate Fund; the first quarterly payment thereof to be made on the 5th day of April, 1761. And the commissioners of his majesty's treasury, or any three or more of them, and the high treasurer and under treasurer of the exchequer, for the time being, shall and may, and they are hereby authorized and required, to cause the said yearly rent or sums of money respectively, or any arrears thereof, to be issued and applied from time to time, daily, weekly, or otherwise, as soon as the same can be satisfied, in the order and course aforesaid, for the uses and purposes by this act appointed, out of the monies arisen, or to arise as aforesaid, so as by the said daily, weekly, or other payments, one fourth part of such yearly rents or sums of money be not exceeded in, for, or in respect of each quarter, and so that upon every of the said quarterly days, the whole then due thereupon be completed, made up, or satisfied, according to the true intent and meaning of this act.

Sec. 5. And whereas it may be proper for the support of his majesty's household, and for defraying the charge of his civil government, and other his necessary expences and occasions, that money should be issued from time to time within each quarter, before the accounts of the said Aggregate Fund shall be made up and settled; Be it therefore enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the commissioners of his majesty's treasury, or any three or more of them, and the high treasurer and under treasurer of the exchequer for the time being, shall and may, and they are hereby fully authorized and empowered from time to time, between the respective days or periods of time appointed, or to be appointed for making up and settling the accounts of the said Aggregate Fund, to cause any payment or payments to be made in advance to or for his majesty's use, or on his behalf, out of all, or any monies which have arisen, or shall arise in the receipt of the exchequer, by the produce of all or any of the said hereditary and temporary revenues herein before directed, to be carried to and made part of the said fund, (except only such part of the produce of the duties on low wines, strong waters, brandy, rum, arrack, and other spirits, as by the said act, made in the ninth year of his said late majesty's reign, were united to and made part of the Aggregate Fund, and farther continued by this act) so that the whole of such payments, together with all other payments out of the monies composing the said fund, do not exceed, for the purposes aforesaid, between the said 25th day of October 1760, and the 6th day of January following, the said sum of 149,586l. 4s. 1½d. herein before limited; nor exceed in or in respect of any one quarter the fourth part of the annual rent or sum, which shall be then charged upon the said fund by virtue of this act, any thing herein, or in any other act or acts of parliament to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 10. it being the true intent and meaning of this act, that the said rights and powers shall not in any degree be abridged or restrained, or affected in any manner whatsoever, but only that the monies arising from the full and free exercise and enjoyment of them, so subject as aforesaid; shall, during his majesty's life, be carried to, and made part of the Aggregate Fund.

GENERAL FUND. 3 George I. Cap. 7.

Sec. 4. AND whereas the said yearly sums of 135,000l. 186,670l. 168,003l. 168,003l. and 39,855l. 15s. 7½d. adding thereunto the abovementioned surplus or remainder of the duties, granted by the act of the ninth year of her late majesty's reign, first above recited (which surplus or remainder was thereby also made applicable towards discharging the principal monies payable by virtue of that act, and communibus annis hath amounted to 27,317l. 11s. 3d. per annum) do amount in the whole to 724,849l. 6s. 10½d. per annum; now it is hereby further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That yearly and every year, reckoning the first year to begin from the feast of St. Michael the archangel, in the year of our Lord 1717, and from thenceforth for ever (subject nevertheless to such provisos and powers of redemption as are hereafter in this act contained) the full sum of 724,849l. 6s. 10½d. by or out of the said monies arising of, or for the said customs, subsidies, impositions, rates, duties, additional duties, proportional parts, weekly and other payments by this act appropriated and directed to be brought from time to time into the exchequer, as aforesaid, in case the same shall extend to the said sum of 724,849l. 6s. 10½d. per annum, shall be computed and reckoned to be a General yearly Fund; and in case all the monies so arising into the exchequer, of, or for the said customs, subsidies, impositions, rates, duties, additional duties, proportional parts, weekly and other payments, shall not amount amount to 724,849l. 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per annum, then the monies so arising, so far as the same will extend, shall be part of the said General yearly Fund of 724,849l. 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per annum, for and towards the answering and paying all the annuities and payments by this act charged or chargeable thereupon; and in case all the monies by this act appointed or appropriated, as aforesaid, shall at any time or times appear to be so deficient or low in the produce of the same, as that within any one year to be reckoned as aforesaid, the said monies so arising in the exchequer, of or for all the said customs, subsidies, impositions, rates, duties, additional duties, proportional parts, weekly and other payments shall not amount to so much as 724,849l. 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. that then and so often, and in every such case, so much as shall be wanting to make up the said General Fund, or sum of 724,849l. 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for every or any such year, shall be supplied and made good, from time to time, by and out of the first aid, or supply to be granted in parliament next after such deficiency shall appear, and shall, from time to time be transferred thereunto, as soon as the same shall be granted.

SINKING FUND. 5 George I. Cap. 3.

Sec. 66. PROVIDED also, and it is hereby enacted and declared, by the authority aforesaid, That all the monies which at the end of every or any quarter of a year, shall or may be produced for the respective surplusses, excesses or overplus monies of the said several funds, commonly called the Aggregate Fund, and the fund of the South-Sea Company, and of the said duties and revenues charged with the said General yearly Fund of 724,849l. 6s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. as also the excess or overplus of the same General yearly Fund, when and as often as any such surplusses, excesses, or overplus monies, shall be (over and above the monies at the end of every such quarter, respectively due or demandable, to be first paid or reserved for payment out of the same, by virtue of this and the said recited acts, or any of them) shall be appropriated, reserved and applied, to and for the further discharging the principal and interest of such national debts and incumbrances as were incurred before the 25th day of December, 1716, and are declared to be national debts, and were provided for by act or acts of parliament, in such manner and form as shall be directed or appointed by any future acts of parliament, to be discharged therewith, or out of the same, and to or for none other use, intent or purpose whatsoever.

I beg the candid reader will make allowances for any errors or inaccuracies, which may easily be corrected, by applying to the originals referred to: And I hope my endeavours to render my leisure hours useful to the public, will meet with a favourable reception.
